

USTRC Southern Colorado Classic

The 2009 USTRC Southern Colorado Classic Qualifier will be held in Pueblo Colorado at the Colorado State Fairgrounds on September 18-20. Zamora Roping Productions will once again be the host of the largest USTRC qualifier of the past several years in the state of Colorado.

Cattle will be supplied by C-S Cattle. Jeff Smith has done an excellent job with the steers for us at several of our events and we expect the same in Pueblo.

Many ropers enjoy the facilities of the Colorado State Fairgrounds and praise the fact that everything is located in close proximity to the arenas. The big shade trees make it enjoyable as well. With the addition of a covered arena there is no chance for a rain out. We will rope rain or shine.

Once again we have assembled a top notch staff for this event. Highlighting the staff is LeAnn Huhman and Shay Zamora as announcers. Vicky Mounyo of the USTRC staff will be in the office along with Marsha Zamora. Our excellent chute crew will be moving cattle through the arena at a pace of about 110 teams per hour. Theresa Ommen will be the stall manager and of course the excellent staff from the fairgrounds will be on hand taking care of the groundwork.

This year we will be having an add on roping which will be an All Girls Roping. This will be held Sunday morning after church services. The roping is a #10 handicapped with some really nice saddle pads being awarded to the average winners.

We realize the economy has had its effect on the team roping industry. We are optimistic about this event as it has continually grown over the last decade. We know it is a busy street out there and know you have many choices in where you rope. However, we invite you to come rope with us in Pueblo. We promise the best customer service in the industry. We make sure everyone gets a fair chance at our events. Score lines are adjusted properly, cattle are sorted to keep them even and quality control is apparent. Hope to see you there!
